

Update on Assessment

Rob Gardner OSG Council Feb 14, 2012

Assessing OSG

- A model for strategic assessment has been developed and discussed among area coordinators
 - Simply defined: measurement of progress towards strategic goals
- Tools for relating metrics to WBS, stakeholder requests, overarching OSG goals, and specific targets
- Tried in context of Operations, with Stakeholder Requests and Production in progress

Keyed in to Project Management

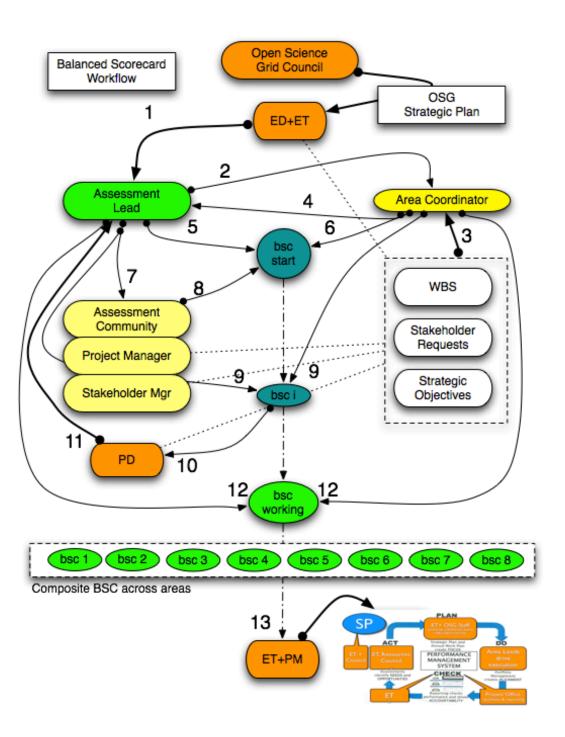

The BSC is keyed to the WBS, Jira-tracked
 Stakeholder requests, and Strategic Objectives

Needs & Next Steps

- As OSG goes into next 5-phase now is a good time to rearticulate strategic objectives
- Process must fit naturally in area coordinator's workflow
 - Semi-biweekly Assessment forum established to buildup the knowledge base
- Comprehensive review with ET upcoming (Feb 23 @ Fermilab)

Steps to creating a BSC

- Defining metrics
 - Measurements of progress towards WBS and milestones, Stakeholder requests, and high-level OSG strategic goals
 - Examine area WBS program of work
 - Which have natural metrics, easily "measureable"?
 - Have all milestones been included?
 - Note WBS IDs as keys in BSC
 - Examine OSG Stakeholder requests
 - Note JIRA IDs as keys into BSC

Creating a BSC, part 2

- Document these following Operations example as appropriate: what, unit, how, etc
- First pass collection, using delegation where appropriate
- Quarterly column: measures since start of named quarter
 - Quarterly trends indicate first derivative
- YTD: cumulative for the year
- Yearly targets identify as appropriate
- Self-assess risk factors and color-code for review
